Please can you disseminate this to your language educators. Thank you.

Video for ALL is the European project <http://videoforall.eu/> that will bring together all current methodologies, ideas and innovative practices to teach and learn languages by integrating digital video. The project believes that video must be a basic tool for a more multidisciplinary approach to language teaching and learning in today's world.

The project will build a comprehensive repository of video and language practice through templates that will describe the practice with examples of usage. The first best practices and resources are now on the website. The project will build accessibility to allow educators to understand which practices could be used by:

- Age of students (primary, secondary, university, adult learners)
- CEFR levels (A1-C2)
- Type of usage (inside/outside the classroom, Internet, hand-held cameras, screen capture tools, etc.)

Video for ALL will create an In-service teacher training course for teachers to learn how to use video as a basic tool for language teaching as well as to understand the pedagogic value and learning theory of its use.

Find out more and how you and your teachers can join the project as an Associate Partner on our sign up form at <https://app.box.com/s/x6w83aua351vtioxgkkr>

Best wishes
